

ALEXANDRIA, VIRGINIA.

MONDAY EVENING, AUG. 8, 1892.

THE RED cap bee has long been buzzing in Archbishop Ireland's bonnet, and as a means to the end of attaining the object of his chief desire, the Archbishop has abandoned the conservative policy of his church, and adopted the radicalism of the civil rights bill, secret organizations and the practical abolition of parochial schools, under the impression that such departures from the wise and long established policy of his church, and by which it has extended itself over the whole face of the earth, would increase his popularity with the Catholics of this country, and thereby conduce to the attainment of the object of his ambition. As a further means to advance himself in the same direction, it is stated, on the authority of Rev. Father Phelan of Chicago, that shortly before the Minneapolis convention such pressure was brought to bear upon President Harrison that he authorized Secretary Blaine to write a letter to Rome endorsing Archbishop Ireland, and saying that his appointment as Cardinal would not only please American Catholics, but would be personally agreeable to the President. Ambition has brought grief to better and more distinguished men than Archbishop Ireland, men, too, who wore the red cap, and what has been, will be again, for all that is new has been old.

THE FARMERS' ALLIANCE has now practically been transferred to the third, or so-called people's party, which, in some counties, districts, and even States, has grown to be not only an important but a ruling factor in politics. Of all the conceivable needs of the farmers, good roads are the greatest. But in no community, small or large, in which the people's party is predominant, has that party as yet done, or even suggested, anything that would conduce to the improvement of the roads thereof. Instead of striving for the attainment of practical objects, such as the one referred to, the third party wastes all its energies in attempts at achieving impossibilities and in gabbling about per capita, fiat money, government pawnshops and the like. However, wise people are not surprised at this, and even unwise ones should not be, for it is as plain as the noonday sun that free schools and cheap newspapers do not impart understanding.

IN THE annual report of the treasurer of the Arlington Woolen Mills, the following paragraph appears: "I have been your treasurer for a consecutive period of 20 years. During that period the average earnings have been 20.8 per cent. on the capital. The earnings last year were near three and a half times those of the year before; and there is every indication that the current year will be the most profitable one in the company's history."

A net profit of over twenty per cent. for twenty years is the direct effect of the high tariff tax on woolen goods used by the poor people of this country. And yet the protectionists say the tariff retards chiefly to the interest of the poor people, and, unfortunately for the latter, many of them are so ill-informed that they really believe what the only real beneficiaries of the McKinley bill, the protected mill and mine owners, tell them, and they vote accordingly at every recurring election.

Among the many other totally unnecessary and wasteful appropriations made by Congress at its late session was an immense sum for the forging of large cannon, which, with all possible expedition, cannot be completed in less than six years. Invention and improvement are the order of the day, and in no other industry more so than in that of gun making. Judging the future by the recent past, before the cannon referred to can be finished, they will be so far behind the times as to be fit only for firing salutes. If the money to be thrown away on them, on useless ships, fairs and the like, had been devoted to the improvement of the public roads, the people from whom it was exacted by taxes on the necessities of life would have received at least a share of their own back again.

IN THE closing hours of the last session of Congress Mr. Enloe, of Tennessee, made a speech, in which he said, in effect, that Commissioner Raum, of the Pensions Bureau, is the greatest show on earth, inasmuch as no other man could have conducted the business of his office as he has, and escaped the lunatic asylum or the penitentiary. And what Mr. Enloe said is true: for on the evidence of his own friends and clerks, no other public office was ever before conducted as the pensions office has been since Mr. Raum became its chief. But Mr. Raum's heart, during the war between the States, beat warm for his country's cause, and he stands in with the pension claim agents, and those agents make large contributions to the republican campaign fund.

THE BUILDERS in New York have been put to such inconvenience and trouble by strikes in recent years, that they have finally determined to follow the example of the strikers. They have therefore formed a union, and have resolved that they will hereafter employ no union men, and that no walking delegate shall be admitted to the premises on which they are engaged. Such a course is really the best one that could have been adopted for reliable, industrious and skillful workmen, for such men can always find constant and permanent employment, and always command good wages.

CONGRESSMAN JONATHAN P. DOLLEY of Iowa says Commissioner Raum's "record as a soldier and a citizen" may be compared with that of any citizen of the United States. Why, certainly it might be. But it is no less certain, that is, if the sworn testimony of unimpeachable witnesses can be relied upon, that the record of no other citizen of the country could be made to appear in a worse light by the comparison.

FROM WASHINGTON.
(Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.)
WASHINGTON, August 8.
The only three nominations made, but not confirmed, during the late session of Congress were those of G. W. Miller to be collector of internal revenue at Pittsburgh, Pa., and James Hill to be postmaster at Vicksburg, Miss., and E. J. Day to be postmaster at Monet, Mo. Hill is the negro republican leader in Mississippi, who doesn't even live in Vicksburg. He was commissioned as postmaster by President Harrison in April, 1891, during a congressional recess, and was nominated soon after the commencement of the late session.

Among the visitors here to-day is Judge Keith of the Alexandria, Virginia, State circuit, who is on his way to Berryville, to hold a term for Judge Turner of that circuit. The Judge says that in his county, Fauquier, where some of the leaders of the third party reside, he doesn't think the democrats will be hurt by that party to the extent of fifty votes. He also says he thinks the democrats are much stronger in this State now than they were in 1888, by reason of the republican support of the tariff and the Force bill, though they may lose a few votes by the failure of the free silver bill, which will some people have been taught to believe would be the remedy for all their evils.

When the pool sellers at Monte Carlo were robbed by their clerk some time ago, they gave it out that they had only lost a few hundred dollars. The fact is, however, that their loss amounted to $13,000. What became of the money they have not yet been able to find out.

Though the South is the great free silver section of the country, of all the five members of the international monetary congress, President Harrison only selected one from that section, and that one from a State that did not belong to the Confederate States. But Mr. Harrison thanks God he was not born south of the Potomac.

The Mexican charge d'affaires called on the Secretary of State this morning and showed him a telegram from the President of Mexico saying it is rumored at the Mexican capital that the Garza revolutionists are reorganizing along the border in Webb county, Texas, and asking that the attention of the U. S. Government be called to the report. The telegram was referred to the War Department and instructions to investigate the matter were at once telegraphed General Wheaton at San Antonio.

A business man from Augusta, Georgia, here to-day, says Mr. Watson, the Farmers' Alliance Congressman from that district, tells people he is going to stump Mr. Speaker Crisp's district and defeat him; but that in his opinion Mr. Watson will have all more than he can do to secure his own re-election, as Mr. Black, his democratic opponent, is not only an able but an exceedingly popular man, and the democrats of the district have made up their minds to elect him. Mr. Watson, he says, will never be re-elected.

Most of the members of the republican Senate provided summer trips for themselves at the Government's expense before the Senate adjourned, by securing the appointment of committees to visit cool resorts and conduct investigations during the recess. The members of the House could not do likewise as they have to be home hustling and rustling for re-nomination and re-election.

The Austrian Government, having complained of the alleged ill-treatment of some of its subjects employed on the Nevada islands by an American guano company, orders were given to the U. S. S. Kearsarge to stop at the islands on her way to Honduras and investigate the matter. The Kearsarge left New York yesterday.

A prominent Virginia democratic politician here to-day says the greatest danger the democrats of his State have to fear is the possible appointment of Gen. Mahone as receiver for the Richmond and Danville Railroad, which, it is understood, is being urged by some influential republicans who are part owners of that road. If that appointment be made, he says, the two wings of the republican party in the State will be united, and that with the patronage of the place and with the loss of strength the democrats will sustain from the third party, the republicans would have a better chance to carry the State than they have had heretofore.

Congressmen Meredith of Virginia and Boutner of Louisiana left here to-day for Leesburg, Va., where they and Gen. Field, the third party's Vice Presidential candidate, will make political speeches.

The third party has established a literary bureau in this city, presided over by Congressman Jerry Simpson of Kansas and Thomas Watson of Georgia, who do most of the writing themselves, the character of which may be judged by the latter's book, in which he says drunken congressmen reel through the aisles of the House and attempt to discuss grave questions, and by some of the former's speeches, in the delivery of which he pulls up his trousers to show that he does wear socks, though he formerly did not suffer a moment from headache, sore throat or loss of sleep, from which I previously suffered, caused by catarrh. NEWS OF THE DAY.

Three thousand four hundred and ninety-six deaths have resulted from cholera in two days in Russia.

Both republican and democratic campaign committees will raise the greatest fund for election purposes ever known.

Gen. Camacho recently attempted to start a revolution in Bolivia, but, with 16 of his followers, he was arrested and deported.

A ferry boat plying on the Mejerda river was seized in mid-stream yesterday, and nine of the persons on board of her were drowned.

John R. Cantlin, who has been chief of the fire department of Philadelphia since 1879, died yesterday morning of typhoid fever after a short illness.

The tide of ocean travel is now beginning to set westward. It is estimated that there are 110,000 Americans abroad and that they leave $60,000,000 in Europe.

The cleansing of a ship after a trip across the Atlantic requires the work of 100 men two days. The bedding of immigrants is burnt and the cheap tinware thrown overboard.

The Old Dominion steamship City of Columbia and the Ellis Island ferryboat Shackamaxon were in collision in the upper bay at New York yesterday evening. No one was hurt.

Don Carlos has abandoned his opposition to the French republic in deference to the Pope's policy. He has published a letter announcing that he will no longer maintain a representative in France.

There was an alarming renewal Saturday of the activity of Mount Etna. Loud and continuous subterranean rumblings were heard and the streams of lava flowing down the slopes were steadily increasing.

On the arrival of the train from Florence at Foligno yesterday the Bishop of Foligno was found lying dead in one of the carriages with several wounds on his head. The police have arrested the suspected murderer.

Both houses of the Michigan Legislature in extra session have passed bills to redistrict the State into Representative and Senatorial districts. Both bills are satisfactory to both parties and were adopted by practically unanimous votes.

James Rodan, known in the Eastern Pa. penitentiary as "A 6074," committed suicide on Saturday by setting fire to his bedding and sitting down in the flames and then drawing a keen-edged knife across his throat. Rodan was a native of Ireland. He was arrested in Chester county for housebreaking, larceny and carrying concealed weapons. He was sentenced to two years and nine months in prison.

The President has appointed Senators Wm. B. Allison, of Iowa, and John P. Jones, of Nevada, Representative James B. McCreary, of Kentucky, Gen. Francis A. Walker, of Massachusetts, and Hon. Henry W. Cannon, of New York, commissioners to represent the United States in the international monetary conference soon to be held in one of the capitals of Europe, the place not yet having been fixed. A prominent monetarist is to be added to Great Britain's delegation to represent that country at the conference.

THE RICHMOND TERMINAL.—An appeal has been issued in New York to the Richmond and West Point Terminal Railway and Warehouse Company by Messrs. Dean, Boardman and Huntington, their committee, urging prompt and concerted action to prevent the disintegration of the system, and making the following recommendations:

1. That you immediately call a general meeting of the stockholders at the principal office of your company at Richmond to consider the condition in which your company is placed, and to elect a board of directors who will command public confidence and who will see that your interests are properly represented in the vitally important litigation now pending. Under the Virginia law such a meeting can be called by holders of one-tenth of the stock of your company on thirty days' notice.

2. That prompt steps be taken to secure the appointment of permanent receivers, who will be independent of all cliques and factions, and who will represent all classes of indebtedness.

3. That united action of all the security-holders be taken to remove the obstacles now in the way of a comprehensive and equitable plan of reorganization.

4. That a committee be appointed to receive the proxies of the stockholders for the purpose of representing them at such meeting and electing a board of directors who will carry out the policy herein stated.

BLOWN UP BY DYNAMITE.—Martin Reed, condemned to death in Washington county, Pa., last winter, for the murder of Chappel, at the Burgettstown fair, and who escaped from jail a month ago, was surrounded in an ice-house at Nobles-ton, Saturday afternoon, and that evening at 7 o'clock, was blown up with dynamite, and either killed or burned to death, after he had shot two men, who attempted to capture him.

Reed was run into the ice-house about two o'clock in the afternoon by Chief of Police Orr and Officer McBride, of Washington, and a man named Williams, of Midway. Orr attempted to enter, and was shot through the shoulder by Reed. A great crowd gathered, and after a hundred or more shots had been exchanged, about seven o'clock, Hugh Coyle, of McDonald, attempted to enter the building, and was shot through the head and heart, and killed by Reed. The crowd then got dynamite cartridges from the McDonald oil field, and blew up the building. Reed then surrendered. Reed shot himself, and his body was nearly burned to a crisp. The crime for which Reed was convicted and sentenced to hang was the murder of Alexander Chappel. Chappel's wife was a most attractive woman and Reed falling in love with her planned and executed the crime in order to marry her. He gave his victim poisoned whisky to drink.

I HAVE been a sufferer from catarrh for 20 years. I found immediate relief in the use of Ely's Cream Balm. Since using it I have not suffered a moment from headache, sore throat or loss of sleep, from which I previously suffered, caused by catarrh. I consider your Balm a valuable remedy.—B. G. Vassar, 50 Warren St., New York.

Letter From Rappahannock.

(Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.)

WASHINGTON, VA., Aug. 5, 1892.

The season here is especially gay just now, and a number of entertainments have been given in the last two weeks, and several more are in prospect. Last Tuesday evening the young men of the Washington Social Club gave a most delightful party at the Washington House, of this place, in compliance to their lady friends who had entertained them so agreeably at a recent year year cotillion. The club is congratulated upon its complete success, largely due to those who had the management of the entertainment in charge, and to the obliging and courteous bearing of the proprietor of the Washington House, Mr. Chas. H. Dear, who takes pleasure in doing all in his power to make all such affairs at his house agreeable and pleasant.

Under the inspiring influence of Dungeon's orchestra dancing was indulged in from 9 p. m. to 3.30 a. m., and all pronounced it the most pleasant entertainment ever given by the club. Among those present we noticed many fair representatives from Washington, D. C.; Louisville, Ky.; Baltimore, Md.; Winchester, Va.; Southwest Virginia; Charlottesville, Va.; Culpeper, Va.; Front Royal, Va., and different sections of this Rappahannock county, among whom were:

Miss Adelaide Carson, Eliza and Lelia Peachy, Carmen Fisher and Mrs. Lieut. Frank C. Beatty, of Washington, D. C.; Miss Peachy Williams, of Louisville, Ky.; Mrs. Daisy Phillips nee McKay, of Baltimore; Miss Susie Byrd, of Winchester, Va.; Misses Alice Williams and Elvina Strother, of Giles county, Va.; Miss Mary Johnson, of Charlottesville, Va.; Misses Nannie and Sue Green, and Misses L. P. Williams and May Spiers, of Culpeper, Va.; Miss Byrd Turner, of Front Royal, Va.; Misses Bertha and Lizzie Smith, and Misses Annie B. and Maggie Mason, of Woodville, Va.; Misses B. Miller and G. Wood, of Sperryville, Va.; Miss Mary Smith, of Flint Hill, Va.; Mrs. E. M. Green, of Benvenue, Va.; Mrs. Wm. W. Stokes, of Washington, D. C.; Strauss, of Richmond, Va.; George P. Williams and Robert Cooper, of Culpeper, Va.; W. T. Yancey, of Woodville, Va.; James Fletcher, Hugh Miller and John A. Browning, of Sperryville, Va.; Buckner Winfield, of Barbours, Va.; J. W. Easton, of Washington, D. C.; Russell Wood and Thomas C. Smith, of Laurel Mills, Va.; Wade H. and Joseph Massie, of Gaines' Cross Roads, Va.; E. M. Vales, Edgar Browning, Eastman, of Flint Hill, Va.; Edgar M. Green, of Benvenue, Va.; J. F. Jones, M. Miller, Clarence Miller, Robert Menefee, Harris Chelf Botts and James F. Strother, John F. Letter From Luray.

(Correspondence Alexandria Gazette.)

LURAY, VA., Aug. 7.—The shooting

of D. B. Snyder, esq., by E. T. Broyles, deputy collector of internal revenue, on Friday evening last in the postoffice at this place, has caused much excitement in our community. There had been bad feeling between the parties for a long while, growing out of political matters, and more recently a bitter newspaper correspondence between the parties, the last of which was a long and severe article published in the Herald of Progress by Mr. Snyder, in which the private character of Mr. Broyles was most severely attacked. The two met for the first time on Friday evening, Mr. B. coming out as Mr. Snyder was entering the postoffice. Mr. Broyles spat in Snyder's face whilst the two were on the steps outside the door almost touching each other, and then, as Mr. B. claims, he thought by the motion of Snyder's right arm, which was on the side of his fist, and the lurch of his body toward him, he would be shot, so he drew his pistol and fired, striking him through the left ear. Mr. B. at once gave himself up to Sgt. Perry and is in jail. Mr. Snyder lies in a most critical condition, the ball being somewhere inside the cavity of the skull and cannot be reached. Both the parties are prominent citizens and the sad affair is greatly regretted by all. Both are members of the bar and of the republican party and have large connections in this county. Mr. Snyder was defeated last spring as a candidate for Commonwealth's attorney and charges his defeat mainly to the disaffection of Broyles toward him and his party. No weapon was found on Mr. Snyder after being shot, though Mr. Broyles claims that Mr. S. did carry a pistol a few days prior to the shooting. Col. Robert Beverley addressed the people's party here on Saturday. He had a small audience, and if all who were present belong to the party they only number 30. The Colonel was complaining of illness and did not appear at his best.

CONGRESSMAN MEREDITH AND THE N. & W. R. R.—During the debate in the House last Friday night on a bill authorizing the laying of temporary railroad tracks in Washington during the meeting of the G. A. R. in that city next month Mr. Meredith said:

Mr. Speaker, I do not desire to object to this resolution, but I want to say now, that my friend from Missouri [Mr. Heard] who seems to fly off the handle, was a little too previous. I did not intend to object to this bill after my conversation with him this evening, because he and others had convinced me that it was a necessity; but I do want to say, sir, that when the Norfolk and Western Railroad Company asked for the privilege of coming into this city, Representatives upon this floor, week after week and month after month, sat down upon that bill which the people desired to have passed; not only the people of my district but the only people of my district but the people of Georgetown desired that it should pass because it would come into this city.

It was fought not only in the District committee for months by representatives of these railroads, but it was fought by representatives of the Pennsylvania Railroad upon this floor, and I have not been enabled to get that permissive charter for that road to cross into the District of Columbia as yet. And, sir, when these roads come and ask for these privileges, I confess to you that I feel as if I ought to object; but when my friend, the chairman of the committee, talked to me this evening and showed me that it was necessary for the people who were coming here, I told him that I did not think I would object.

VIRGINIA NEWS.

L. Powell, a promising young man of upper Orange, accidentally shot himself on Tuesday while hunting, and died in a few minutes.

Four hundred citizens of Lynchburg have signed a petition asking the Governor for commutation of the sentence of Taiton Hall, condemned to be hanged for murder.

The property and effects of the defunct Piedmont Bank of Gordonsville, including the Gordonsville Gazette and several lots of lands, were sold on Saturday for $5,000 to R. H. Rawlins, of Charlottesville.

The Lynchburg Virginian says J. Brad Beverley spoke at Franklin Junction, Pittsylvania county, on Friday. After "blazing away" for two hours he ceased his harangue, and an effort was made to organize a third party club, but for some reason it fell through.

Young John Cave shot and killed Richard Doffmeyer at a point across the river from Shenandoah, Page county, on Saturday evening. Cave's father and Doffmeyer got into a quarrel concerning a woman. Cave struck Doffmeyer in the forehead with a stone and badly cut him, whereupon Doffmeyer gave young Cave a blow which staggered him, but on recovering from it he shot Doffmeyer near the heart, killing him instantly. The Caves have been arrested and carried to Harrisonburg.

Between 12 and 1 o'clock Friday night J. A. Carter and his wife, who live in South Clifton Forge, were chloroformed by robbers, who got into their sleeping room. The watch of Mr. Carter was taken from his vest pocket and his wife's watch from a case at the head of their bed. A trunk in a communicating room was broken open and such articles as met the fancy of the nocturnal invaders carried off. Exit was made through an open window some nine feet from the ground. In the jump the robbers dropped one of Mrs. Carter's gold rings and made such noise as aroused Mrs. Carter.

James Candler, of Chesterfield county, shot himself in the right temple at a late hour Saturday night, and at noon yesterday he died from his self-inflicted wound. A constable of the county went to Candler's house to arrest him for some offense he had committed. After the warrant of arrest had been served on him Candler asked to be allowed to shave himself before being taken to jail, which request was granted. After he had shaved, Candler went to his bed from which he took a pistol and fired the fatal shot, at the same time remarking that he had rather be dead than go to jail.

Democratic Convention in King George.—Delegates Elected.

KING GEORGE CO., VA., Aug. 5, 1892.

The democrats of this county held a convention yesterday at the courthouse. The convention was called to order by Dr. F. F. Ninde, the county chairman. Dr. Ninde was made chairman of the convention and G. W. Grigsby secretary.

The following resolution, offered by Judge C. H. Ashton, was unanimously adopted.

Resolved, By the the democrats of King George County, in convention assembled, that we fully appreciate the fearless ability with which the Hon. E. E. Meredith has discharged his duties as our representative in Congress and do most heartily endorse him for re-nomination for that position.

The following delegates and alternates were chosen to represent the county in the convention to meet at Alexandria, August 10th to nominate a candidate to represent the Eighth district in the 53rd Congress.

Potomac District.—Delegates: John W. Peed, J. J. Sale. Alternates: Lewis C. Ashton and Andrew J. Allen.

Rappahannock District.—Delegates: I. F. Hooe and Alexander Potts. Alternates: Wm. Baxter and C. W. Lee. Shiloh District. Delegates: Dr. V. C. Caruthers and Jas. H. Thompson. Alternates: Thos. B. Garnett and R. W. Owens.

On motion of T. H. Bevan, esq., Mr. S. Welford Corbin was requested to address the convention. Mr. Corbin came forward. He said the call was unexpected, and he was not prepared to make a speech. But in a few timely and appropriate remarks, he stated his position in reference to the campaign and the issues involved.

He said, in substance, he was a member of the farmers' alliance and endorsed its entire platform with one exception; but he always had been, and still was, a democrat, and would earnestly support the democratic ticket, and use his best endeavor for its success. In view of the bills which now oppress the people, and the force bill and other iniquitous legislation which would result from republican success at the pending election, it was the duty of every liberty-loving voter in the land, and especially in the South, to stand firmly by the democratic party (at present the only hope the country can lay hold on) in the next election.

His speech was well received and vehemently applauded.

Judge Ashton, Hon. J. E. Mason, and T. H. Bevan, esq., each being loudly called for, responded in felicitous speeches, short and pointed, and eloquently applauded.

All the speeches were meritorious and appropriately applauded.

The following paper, offered by Mr. Bevan, was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, By the democrats of King George county, in convention assembled, that, recognizing the ability and statesmanship of our Senator, John W. Daniel, and admiring his sterling and uncompromising democracy, they do most cordially invite him to address the citizens of our county, on October court day, 1892, upon the political issues of the day, and the secretary of this convention is directed to send a copy of this resolution to Senator Daniel and request an early reply.

F. F. NINDE, Chairman.

G. W. GRIGSBY, Secretary.

It should be in Every House.

TO-DAY'S TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCHES.

Foreign News.

PARIS, Aug. 8.—The case of Edward Deacon against his wife whom he accuses of adultery with M. Abeille, has been postponed until October. The public prosecutor has refused to intervene in the case, saying that Mr. Deacon had better settle the affair before the court himself.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 8.—A dispatch from Astrabad, a city of Persia, whose pestilential atmosphere has gained for it the ominous name of "City of the Plague," says that the mollahs or priests, whose influence with the people is very powerful, have preached that the outbreak of cholera is due to the sale of alcoholic liquors. Their language excited the populace to frenzy. Mobs gathered in the vicinity of the mosques, and determined to take summary steps to abolish the liquor traffic. Raids were forthwith made upon the dramshops which were plundered. The mob destroyed the goods of a number of Armenian traders, who are Russian subjects. The Russian consul, fearing the trouble would grow and he might be attacked, telegraphed to St. Petersburg for assistance. The government at once gave orders for the dispatch of 25 mounted cossacks, who have arrived at Astrabad where they are guarding the consulate. The Shah of Persia, who is making a tour of the provinces, has been informed of the outbreak of cholera in Teheran, and he will immediately return to that city.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—Mr. Gladstone arrived in London at 11 o'clock this morning. His health has greatly improved. Shortly after his arrival he held a brief conference with the liberal leaders. A petition has been lodged against the return of Mr. Wm. Redmond, Parnellite, who was elected in the east division of county Clare.

Worked Resumed.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 8.—The Duquesne steel works started up this morning with nearly all of the old employees at work, and the Carnegie Steel Co. has scored one victory. On Saturday Supt. Morrison posted a notice to the effect that all men who had applied for their old jobs should report at the mill at 7 o'clock this morning as the mill would resume at that hour. Long before the time set, however, workers with dinner pails quietly stole up unfrequented streets and along the railroad tracks and entered the mill unobserved by their fellow strikers. As 7 o'clock approached the number of men who had entered the mill yard by this means reached four hundred. About 60 men who were leaders in the sympathy strike movement gathered on the road near the mill gate and watched in moody silence the men going into work. Finally the mill whistle blew for seven o'clock. At that moment a large Irishman exclaimed in a loud voice: "Well, men, the jig is up; we had better hustle for our old places."

This was the signal for a panic and the entire crowd ran toward the gate. It was a complete stampede. By the surrender the men are expelled from the Amalgamated Association and the Carnegie Co. has two non-union mills. The effect of the break at Duquesne cannot but prove harmful to the men at Homestead.

Secretary Lovjoy, of the Carnegie Steel Co., is authority for the statements showing the breadth of the plan of the Carnegie Co. to continue prosecuting the strikers who engaged in the riot on July 6. The record of 53 informations for murder or aggravated riot and 18 arrests on these charges is to be increased three fold.

Annual Hydrophobia.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 8.—Fifteen years ago this month, while playing on the street, John Allen was pounced upon by a big dog, which tore a piece out of his left leg just above the knee. The wound healed up finally and nothing more was thought of it until a year after, to the day, when the little fellow was seized with a terrible spasm. Four strong men were required to hold him, while he writhed and barked like a dog and foamed at the mouth. In a day or two he was well as ever. Every year afterward at the same time of the year, at the same hour he has suffered a return of the frightful malady and each time he has fully recovered within a few days. He is now undergoing the tortures of his fourteenth attack and twelve strong men are hardly able to control him.

The Queen's Speech.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—The House of Commons were this morning summoned to the House of Lords, where Queen Victoria's opening speech was read. The speech informed her Majesty's Lords and gentlemen that the business of the late session having been completed it is not necessary for parliament now to continue its session at an unusual period of the year. Her Majesty expressed the hope that when parliament meets again at the customary season it will again direct attention to measures of social and domestic improvement and that it will continue to advance in the path of useful and beneficent legislation which has been so judiciously followed at previous sessions. When the last portion of the speech was read it was greeted with groans by the liberals.

The Treasure Train.

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 8.—Just before six o'clock last night the train containing $20,000,000 worth of government gold, bound from San Francisco for Washington, reached Council Bluffs on the opposite side of the river and stopped for lunch. As soon as the train stopped a guard with rifles appeared on the platform of each car and no one was allowed to approach them. Even conductor and trainmen were compelled to keep their distance until the train was ready to start. The train passed through Chicago this morning and will reach Washington to-morrow morning.

Fire in Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 8.—Fire broke out 8 o'clock this morning in the furniture factory of Chatterton & Co., 13 south Frederick street. The inflammable nature of the contents of the building caused a rapid spread of the flames and soon the Merchants' building, Hope Brass works, Greene & Co. machine shops, R. Oppenheimer's cigar factory, Feishman and Company building and Schlegel's orchestra hall were ablaze. The fire worked its way rapidly to the rear and at one time it was feared the entire block would go. The damage will probably reach $200,000.

The Revolution in Honduras.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 8.—The steamship City of Dallas arrived yesterday evening with the latest intelligence of the revolution in Spanish Honduras. It is reported that a pitched battle was fought at Ceiba between the resident revolutionists and the government troops, in which the latter were victorious. The bombardment dislodged the rebels and they fled in disorder to the forests.
